From Joe Pedersen, Board President – Seguin Services & John Voit, President & CEO of Seguin Services

Dear Friends of Seguin,

As you are likely aware, the history of persons with developmental disabilities in this country is riddled with notorious stories of severe maltreatment and discrimination. From the infamous “snake pit” of the Willowbrook State School in New York exposed in the 1960s, to the mass institutionalization of individuals in substandard facilities segregated from our communities, persons with disabilities and their advocates have had to fight for their civil rights. Due to the efforts of organizations like Seguin and the enactment of civil rights and public education laws at state and national levels, many persons with developmental disabilities have made great strides in improving their quality of life. Nevertheless, they continue to face significant societal discrimination. These individuals experience extremely high rates of unemployment as well as discrimination where they may live. Inclusive education has been applied on a limited scale and inconsistently at best in communities throughout the country. Many persons with developmental disabilities continue to be housed in large institutions, denied the chance to live, work, learn and play within the mainstream of society.

For those of you who are parents or family members of persons with developmental disabilities, you know what we are saying. We are sure that you have seen such discrimination directed toward your loved ones, such as hurtful insults or being made fun of, or having to skip a public engagement because there was no “handicapped” seating available.

While discrimination has lessened over the years because of our hard-won battles, society can be slow to change. For example, Illinois ranks near the bottom compared to other states in funding for community services such as what Seguin provides. The people we serve don't appear to be a priority for public support, especially in Illinois. The use of the “R” word continues unabated in popular culture, urged on by radio talk-jocks, supposedly satirical movies, and other media outlets.

For that reason, we are urging you to help us continue the battle for civil rights for the adults and children with disabilities and other special needs. Seguin actively works to confront this issue through our Youth Leadership and Disability Awareness project. Funded in part by the Comcast Foundation, this project is a partnership between local school districts and Seguin to promote constructive relationships between all classmates, regardless of disabilities. We believe it is especially important to reach students in elementary and middle school to have the greatest impact on the most students. This project includes an age-appropriate curriculum which is currently being implemented in many west suburban Chicago-area schools.

Today's youth represent America's future leaders, employers, co-workers, neighbors, and friends for people with intellectual disabilities. Ultimately, we desire to achieve multiple aims through this initiative, including the creation of a cadre of youth energized to be advocates and organizers for people with disabilities with a more sophisticated and sensitive understanding of the world. You can help Seguin by promoting this project within your schools. You can also help the Seguin cause by advocating for fair and equitable funding from the State of Illinois. With your support and involvement, we can see further gains for the individuals we hold so near and dear to our hearts.

*Best Wishes,
Joe Pedersen, Board President &
John Voit, President/CEO of Seguin Services*

Charter One

Provides Critical Support Benefiting Job Training For Persons With Disabilities

Seguin Services is pleased to announce that the Charter One Foundation has provided continued support, since July 2008 totaling $30,000, for Seguin's Community Employment Alternatives program. Individuals with developmental disabilities have desires to live full lives, including involvement in fruitful and rewarding work. Charter One recognizes the value of this commendable goal and has helped Seguin achieve meaningful results in the lives of the people we serve.

"Seguin Services' Community Employment Alternatives program serves as a critical training and support resource to members of our community who wouldn't otherwise receive the guidance necessary to develop work-skills for employment," states Stacey R. Sather, Senior Vice President and Director of Public Affairs, Charter One. "By partnering with worthy organizations such as Seguin Services, Charter One is proud to help those most-in-need in our community."

This commitment on the part of Charter One enables us to assist 185 adults with developmental disabilities by supporting their employment in regular jobs in the Greater Chicagoland area, as well as 100 adults in SEGUINWORKS business initiatives within the Seguin Auto Center, Seguin Gardens & Gifts, and Seguin Lawn Care. Our hats are off to the focused and dedicated efforts of Charter One—who deserves our deepest gratitude—for recognizing this need in our community and partnering to make a difference in the lives of many.

In March, Seguin hosted a one-day Autism Movement Therapy (AMT) workshop for Seguin staff, representatives of other organizations, and individuals with developmental disabilities, conducted by AMT's creator Joanne Lara, M.A. (www.autismmovementtherapy.com).

Since then, Seguin staff members have utilized the methods and practices of Autism Movement Therapy to conduct weekly classes for Seguin participants at the Carr Center, as yet another fitness and enrichment activity.

Seguin's Shooting Stars Are The Best

Seguin Awards Announced as Part of Staff Appreciation Month

Winners of the coveted Shooting Stars Awards for 2009 were announced on September 30 as Seguin celebrated its 11th Annual Staff Appreciation Day. Each winner was recognized for his or her contributions to Seguin's efforts to make a marked difference in the lives of the individuals we serve, enabling them to lead fuller lives by raising their quality of life and helping them reach their potential. The winners include Lovie Twine, Francine Harvalis, Gloria Corral, Susanna Abarca, and Ben Hollins.

In a previous newsletter, we highlighted the contributions made by Lovie Twine. This time we showcase the work of Ben Hollins, Home Support Specialist, for his Person-Centered Support. Ben works a split shift for Seguin, providing intermittent support to five men residing in a Seguin home in Oak Park. Ben's commitment and patience have made the dream of living more self-sufficiently a reality for these men. Ben arrives early in the day to assist the men, then returns at four in the afternoon to facilitate evening activities. Ben provides expert support, such as ensuring these men are ready for work, providing assistance in daily living activities in the home, and offering sage advice as they strive to be more independent adults in spite of their disabilities.

Ben has faithfully worked with these individuals for the past seven years. As a result they have developed a strong bond and trust with Ben. Today they look up to him as a wonderful role model, as he demonstrates how they can problem-solve effectively and improve their skills. Ben's flexibility and willingness to adjust his schedule as required are what makes their home function so well. In addition, Ben is always willing to go the extra mile to assist other direct support professionals. For example, he helped a shared living companion when a resident returned home from the hospital necessitating extra help. For all these reasons, Ben Hollins truly is a Shooting Star!

Carr Family Brings Holiday Joy to Seguin Participants

Generous Family Hosts Holiday Party for Past 38 Years!

The Carr Family, Allan, Jeremy, Terry Sr., Al, and Terry Jr., graciously host and celebrate the holidays annually with the Seguin participants and their families.

Richard Smith Jr. and Richard Smith Sr. take great pleasure in the party as well as Maria Vanik during this much enjoyed day.

On Saturday, December 5th, Seguin's participants flocked to The Wishing Well Banquet Hall in Cicero for the much-anticipated holiday party. Once again – for the 38th consecutive year – Al and Barbara Ann Carr and Terry and Cindy Carr, with the help of their family and friends, hosted a holiday celebration, complete with a banquet meal, provided in part by Ram Transportation, the Carr Families, and Fred Yanez of the Wishing Well. The celebration would not be complete without a visit from Santa and Mrs. Claus who were escorted by the Cicero Fire Department.

Singing, dancing and holiday merriment resounded through the hall, as 350 individuals filled the Wishing Well. Back again this year to emcee the event was former Cicero Town Assessor and long-standing President of the Community Chest of Cicero, John Kociolko. On hand to help celebrate were former Mayor Richard Scheck of North Riverside and his wife Judy, who continued their gift-giving tradition by providing Seguin participants with wonderful new lunch containers. New North Riverside Mayor Ken Krochmal and wife Bonnie also joined the festivities. As is the tradition, Seguin participants went home with Christmas stockings filled with fruit and candy – gifts from B&B Wholesale Distributors – and sweatshirts with through the generosity of Bill Pacella of Pacella Trucking Express.

This event is truly a family affair. Al's grandsons (Terry's sons) have assumed the mantle of coordinating this wonderful feast. Terry (and wife Kathy), Allan (and wife Sarah) and Jeremy work diligently to secure the food and amenities for the event, while laboring in the kitchen as well to insure the food is ready to be served to the masses gathered. Our deep appreciation goes to the Carr Family, who has made this annual party a time-honored tradition for Seguin Services and the individuals we serve. As we count our blessings, your family tops the list.

Highlights from Fiscal Year 2009

As the innovative leader in providing services and supports to people with developmental disabilities, Seguin continued to evolve and improve in order to create outcomes of value and relevance for its participants, families, donors and the communities in which they live.

Integrate

- 218 adults received services during the year in 60 family-like homes scattered throughout 21 west suburban communities.
- 196 children were served over the course of the year in over 100 foster homes, where Seguin provided safety, security, and individualized care regardless of their emotional, behavioral, or medical challenges.
- 279 cars were sold at the SEGUINWORKS Auto Center with sales revenues of approximately $280,000; 187 cars were donated in fiscal 2008.
- An average of 82 participants per month gave back to their communities through volunteer opportunities.

Enrich

- 39 children were placed in loving foster homes.
- Visible progress continued as part of Seguin's Carr Center. Work was completed on the Carr Center's First Floor, adding seven new classrooms, a specially designed Portillo's Learning Kitchen, a computer learning lab, a Snoezelen sensory stimulation room, and a new nursing center.
- SEGUINWORKS continued to expand to create jobs and enrichment for people served. Seguin Gardens & Gifts opened in spring 2009, providing jobs and horticultural therapy opportunities for individuals with significant disabilities. The Seguin Auto Center and Seguin Lawn Care operations continued to offer meaningful, productive work for Seguin participants.
- Donors "paid it forward," donating $2.2 million dollars through grants, individual gifts, special events, and other donations to support Seguin programs, as well as the Capital Campaign, "Building a Better Life".
- Seguin continued to provide arts enrichment and recreation activities, from music therapy to African drumming, from tai chi to new exercise programs, from a children's foster care fashion show to a Seguin Idol contest, including weekends and weekday evenings, for both adults and children served.

Empower

- 40 foster children now reside in permanent, stable homes through adoption, subsidized guardianship, or have transitioned to family-like adult homes.
- Seguin's Community Employment programs supported 185 adults during the year at jobs in their communities.
- Seguin's Youth Leadership and Disability Awareness Project brought heightened sensitivity and direct experiences with people with developmental disabilities for more than 9,600 elementary and middle school students in 18 Chicago-area schools.
- During Staff Recognition month, five employees were given special recognition for their outstanding contributions to Seguin and its participants.
